ADMINISTRATIVE AND LEADERSHIP EXPERIENCE:

Director, Cornell Atkinson Center for Sustainability, 2016-. Second director of rapidly growing university-wide center with ~$80M endowment and ~600 Faculty Fellows from every Cornell college. Cornell Atkinson is the hub of collaborative sustainability research at Cornell University, forging vital connections among researchers, students, staff, and external partners.

Chairperson, Cornell Provost's Radical Collaboration Sustainability Task Force, Spring 2017. Led committee of 20 faculty members from across the university to produce a strategic plan for sustainability scholarship. Key elements proposed include a research focus on rural-urban systems, hiring eight senior faculty, launching a new university-wide graduate program in sustainability, and hiring non-traditional faculty and staff to foster partnerships with non-university organizations.

President, Ecological Society of America, 2016-2017. Oversee Washington, DC staff and activities of the largest global organization for professional ecologists (~9,000 members). Founded in 1915, ESA publishes six journals, holds a large annual meeting, and represents science in the US capital in cooperation with other scientific organizations. On Governing Board 2015-2018. As Past-President, serve on 2017 search committee for the society's Executive Director.

Director, Notre Dame Environmental Change Initiative (ND-ECI), 2010-2016. Founding director of ND-ECI, which began with a $10 million investment from the University of Notre Dame in the spirit of "science serving society." ND-ECI provides intellectual capital and infrastructure for interdisciplinary teams spearheading innovative research to solve complex environmental problems. In particular, ND-ECI tackles the interrelated problems of invasive species, land use, and climate change, focusing on their synergistic impacts on water resources.

Director, Notre Dame Center for Aquatic Conservation (CAC), 2006-2012. Founding director of CAC, the mission of which was to promote the application of scientific knowledge to better management of earth's freshwater resources and freshwater ecosystems. Through competitive graduate fellowship awards in multiple disciplines, CAC built partnerships to enhance the capacity of ecosystems to support the diversity of life and increase human welfare in future generations. CAC was subsumed into ND-ECI (see above).

Director (Interim), Global Linkages of Biology, Environment, and Society (GLOBES), University of Notre Dame, 2008-2009. GLOBES began as a NSF-funded Integrative Graduate Education and Research Training grant. GLOBES brings together the complementary skills of biologists, engineers, environmental and social scientists, public policy experts, lawyers, and religious and community leaders. Collectively they seek innovative and interdisciplinary solutions to a wide range of interrelated problems in environmental and human health.

Chairperson, Invasive Species Advisory Committee (ISAC), 2000-2001 (member through 2004). ISAC was established by 1999 Executive Order 13112 to advise the National Invasive Species Council. Responsibilities included working with the Science Advisor of the Secretary of the Interior and staff on the strategy to write the National Management Plan; planning agendas for meetings; presiding over meetings of whole committee and subcommittees. The 30 members of ISAC included leading scientists, lobbyists for affected industries, leaders of environmental NGOs, and representatives of state and tribal governments.

Chairperson, Provost's Task Force on Notre Dame Environmental Education and Research, 2000-2001. Membership on the task force consisted of 10 faculty representing 4 Notre Dame colleges. During a 10 month effort, the committee evaluated existing Notre Dame environmentally-related undergraduate programs, graduate programs, and research efforts at Notre Dame, and produced a report recommending major changes and improvements, many of which were incorporated into GLOBES, CAC, and ND-ECI.

Director, College of Science Honors Program, University of Notre Dame, 1988-2000. Duties for this program for 320 undergraduate students included administration, student recruitment, arranging course offerings, student advising, teaching a Senior Seminar 1/wk each fall (see courses below), social events, giving 1-3 evening seminars per year on various topics (e.g., global changes, mammalian cloning, human population growth). During my tenure, the program grew 50%, and an undergraduate research endowment was started. The program has since been endowed as the Glynn Family Honors Program.
